EXPENSE REIMBURSEMENT POLICY

TechNova Solutions Pvt. Ltd.

Effective: July 2026

Travel Reimbursement

This section defines the official protocols for Travel Reimbursement within TechNova Solutions Pvt. Ltd. All employees are expected to adhere to these guidelines to ensure fiscal responsibility and operational transparency.

Article 1: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 1.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims

constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 1.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 2: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 2.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state

the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 2.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 3: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 3.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 3.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 4: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 4.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 4.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 5: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 5.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 5.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Meal Reimbursement

This section defines the official protocols for Meal Reimbursement within TechNova Solutions Pvt. Ltd. All employees are expected to adhere to these guidelines to ensure fiscal responsibility and operational transparency.

Article 1: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 1.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims

constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 1.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 2: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 2.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state

the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 2.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 3: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 3.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 3.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 4: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 4.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 4.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 5: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 5.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 5.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Internet Allowance

This section defines the official protocols for Internet Allowance within TechNova Solutions Pvt. Ltd. All employees are expected to adhere to these guidelines to ensure fiscal responsibility and operational transparency.

Article 1: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 1.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims

constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 1.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 2: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 2.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state

the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 2.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 3: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 3.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 3.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 4: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 4.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 4.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 5: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 5.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 5.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Mobile Reimbursement

This section defines the official protocols for Mobile Reimbursement within TechNova Solutions Pvt. Ltd. All employees are expected to adhere to these guidelines to ensure fiscal responsibility and operational transparency.

Article 1: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 1.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims

constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 1.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 2: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 2.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state

the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 2.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 3: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 3.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 3.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 4: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 4.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 4.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 5: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 5.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 5.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Office Supplies

This section defines the official protocols for Office Supplies within TechNova Solutions Pvt. Ltd. All employees are expected to adhere to these guidelines to ensure fiscal responsibility and operational transparency.

Article 1: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 1.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims

constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 1.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 2: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 2.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state

the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 2.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 3: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 3.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or

rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 3.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 4: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 4.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 4.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 5: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 5.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 5.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Work-from-Home Reimbursement

This section defines the official protocols for Work-from-Home Reimbursement within TechNova Solutions Pvt. Ltd. All employees are expected to adhere to these guidelines to ensure fiscal responsibility and operational transparency.

Article 1: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 1.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims

constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 1.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 2: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 2.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state

the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 2.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 3: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 3.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or

rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 3.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 4: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 4.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 4.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 5: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 5.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 5.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Claim Process

This section defines the official protocols for Claim Process within TechNova Solutions Pvt. Ltd. All employees are expected to adhere to these guidelines to ensure fiscal responsibility and operational transparency.

Article 1: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 1.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims

constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 1.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 2: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 2.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state

the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 2.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 3: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 3.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or

rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 3.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 4: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 4.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 4.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 5: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 5.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 5.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Required Receipts

This section defines the official protocols for Required Receipts within TechNova Solutions Pvt. Ltd. All employees are expected to adhere to these guidelines to ensure fiscal responsibility and operational transparency.

Article 1: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 1.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims

constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 1.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 2: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 2.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state

the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 2.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 3: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 3.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or

rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 3.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 4: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 4.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 4.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 5: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 5.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 5.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Approval Workflow

This section defines the official protocols for Approval Workflow within TechNova Solutions Pvt. Ltd. All employees are expected to adhere to these guidelines to ensure fiscal responsibility and operational transparency.

Article 1: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 1.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims

constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 1.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 2: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 2.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state

the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 2.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 3: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 3.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or

rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 3.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 4: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 4.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 4.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 5: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 5.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 5.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Audit Process

This section defines the official protocols for Audit Process within TechNova Solutions Pvt. Ltd. All employees are expected to adhere to these guidelines to ensure fiscal responsibility and operational transparency.

Article 1: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 1.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims

constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 1.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 2: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 2.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state

the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 2.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 3: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 3.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or

rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 3.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 4: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 4.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 4.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 5: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 5.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 5.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Fraud Prevention

This section defines the official protocols for Fraud Prevention within TechNova Solutions Pvt. Ltd. All employees are expected to adhere to these guidelines to ensure fiscal responsibility and operational transparency.

Article 1: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 1.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims

constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 1.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 2: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 2.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state

the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 2.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 3: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 3.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or

rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 3.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 4: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 4.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 4.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 5: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 5.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 5.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Finance Responsibilities

This section defines the official protocols for Finance Responsibilities within TechNova Solutions Pvt. Ltd. All employees are expected to adhere to these guidelines to ensure fiscal responsibility and operational transparency.

Article 1: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 1.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims

constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 1.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 2: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 2.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state

the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 2.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 3: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 3.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or

rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 3.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 4: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 4.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 4.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 5: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 5.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 5.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Employee Responsibilities

This section defines the official protocols for Employee Responsibilities within TechNova Solutions Pvt. Ltd. All employees are expected to adhere to these guidelines to ensure fiscal responsibility and operational transparency.

Article 1: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 1.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims

constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 1.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 2: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 2.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state

the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 2.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 3: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 3.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or

rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 3.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 4: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 4.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 4.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 5: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 5.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 5.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

FAQs

This section defines the official protocols for FAQs within TechNova Solutions Pvt. Ltd. All employees are expected to adhere to these guidelines to ensure fiscal responsibility and operational transparency.

Article 1: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 1.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims

constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 1.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 2: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 2.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state

the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 2.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 3: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 3.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or

rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 3.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 4: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 4.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 4.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 5: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 5.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 5.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Sample Reimbursement Forms

This section defines the official protocols for Sample Reimbursement Forms within TechNova Solutions Pvt. Ltd. All employees are expected to adhere to these guidelines to ensure fiscal responsibility and operational transparency.

Article 1: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 1.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims

constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 1.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 2: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 2.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state

the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 2.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 3: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 3.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or

rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 3.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 4: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 4.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 4.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 5: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 5.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 5.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Examples

This section defines the official protocols for Examples within TechNova Solutions Pvt. Ltd. All employees are expected to adhere to these guidelines to ensure fiscal responsibility and operational transparency.

Article 1: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 1.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims

constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 1.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 1.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 2: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 2.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state

the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 2.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 2.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 3: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 3.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or

rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 3.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 3.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 4: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 4.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 4.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 4.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Article 5: Procedural Governance

Adherence to the standards set forth in this article is mandatory for all personnel. This policy ensures consistency, compliance with tax regulations, and internal audit readiness.

- Provision 5.1: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.2: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.3: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.4: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.5: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.
- Provision 5.6: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

- Provision 5.7: Expense claims must be submitted via the corporate ERP system within thirty (30) days of the transaction date. Late submissions may be subject to review or rejection by the Finance Department. All claims require itemized receipts that clearly state the vendor, date, nature of expense, and total amount. Falsification of expense claims constitutes a serious breach of company policy and may lead to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Appendix: Base Prompt

Generate an official Expense Reimbursement Policy for TechNova Solutions Pvt. Ltd.

Length:
70â€“100 pages.

Topics:

- Travel reimbursement
- Meal reimbursement
- Internet allowance
- Mobile reimbursement
- Office supplies
- Work-from-home reimbursement
- Claim process
- Required receipts
- Approval workflow
- Audit process
- Fraud prevention
- Finance responsibilities
- Employee responsibilities
- FAQs
- Sample reimbursement forms
- Examples

Append the Base Prompt below and generate the complete document.